

Dr. Regina Moench-Pfanner
CEO and Founder
ibn 360
Singapore

Dr. Regina Moench-Pfanner is the CEO and founder of ibn360 (www.ibn-360.com), dedicated to helping clients in the public and private sectors to create solutions that sustainably improve nutrition. ibn360's access to government, business, academia and civil society leaders enables clients to harness knowledge to build creative answers to complex business questions that deliver improved and affordable nutrition.

Dr. Moench-Pfanner has been at the forefront of nutrition for more than 30 years, bringing with her, a wide range of experience that include public health, food and nutrition policy; healthcare and research; business and program management; strategic planning and capacity building. She has brokered many noteworthy partnerships across the globe to harness cross-sector partnerships for nutrition outcomes, has published widely on the economic and double burden of malnutrition, food quality and the role of micronutrients towards optimal nutrition and is a seasoned presenter and facilitator at conferences and events. Dr. Moench-Pfanner is a steering committee member of the Asian Round Table of Food Innovation for Improved Nutrition, on the advisory board of the Rice Bowl Index that looks at food security robustness in Asia and a member of the Society for Implementation Science in Nutrition.

Sustainable Food System & Diets
Implication & Relevance for Nutrition Security

Contributed event organizer:

